

PV ensures clean electricity

A 70 square meter photovoltaic system with a nominal output of 13 kilowatts produces as much electricity per year as a four-person household consumes in total to cover all its energy needs: electricity for the household, for up to 20,000 kilometers of driving in an e-car, and electricity for the heat pump to heat an averagely insulated single-family house.

